SOLUTION NOT POLLUTION

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Climate change is no longer a concept or theory; it is now a harsh reality that all people need to face up to. There is ample evidence that young people all over the world are facing up to this challenge. Global demonstrations in September 2019 were largely organised and led by young people demanding action. However, protest alone is not sufficient to address the climate change challenge. Action is needed on an individual and collective level to change peoples habits; to adopt more environmentally friendly patterns of production and consumption; and to find solutions to the climate change challenge we all now face. Education has a critical role to play if the protests of young people are to be leveraged into action and youth work in its many formal, informal and non-formal interventions is the perfect starting point to set the challenge to today's young people to think of solutions to reduce the many pollutions that contribute to the pace of climate change.

OBJECTIVES

SOLUTION NOT POLLUTION has 3 main objectives:

1. To introduce challenge-based learning in youth work by modifying and transferring existing learning resources about WebQuest development to a youth work setting in a climate change context
2. To develop a collection of challenge-based WebQuest learning resources that address a number of critical topics that address the climate change challenge
3. To develop a bespoke entrepreneurship/social entrepreneurship curriculum specifically addressed to young people that supports them to find sustainable online/offline business solutions in a climate change context
